He thinks the part of the county he has been in is entitled to some consideration. He was reared in this town where he has numerous friends who would be glad to see him succeed.

Goodpaster, deceased of this place. The Club will hereafter be affiliated with the State Federation of Woman's Clubs.

The Woman's Club, which did such excellent work in cleaning up the streets of the town will have to abandon their contemplated program for "clean-up-week" this year as they say the Mayor and the Council refuse to co-operate with them in this much-needed work.

These teams will meet again on the Morehead grounds May 22. The Rounders play Sharpsburg Saturday and Salt Lick Sunday, both games on Owingsville grounds.

The Rounders lost to the Fleaingsburg team Saturday on the latter's grounds by a score of 6 to 5. The same teams will play here Saturday, May 14.

Where One Gallon Equals Two

Quality does tell! Measured by covering capacity and length of wear, one gallon of Hanna's Green Seal Paint proves itself equal to two gallons of so-called "cheap" paint. And there's a reason: viz.—no paint can be better than the ingredients that go into it.

HANNA'S GREEN SEAL PAINT contains only highest grade ingredients, universally recognized as necessary in making good paint. If a paint is sold at a ridiculously low price it simply means that it is lacking in these necessary ingredients and contains cheap adulterants. The exact formula is printed on every package of Green Seal.

TAKES CARE OF 5 CHILDREN

Her Sickness Ended
By E. Pinkham's
Vegetable Compound

"I suffered continually with a sick headache and was often dependent, had dizzy spells and at my monthly periods it was almost impossible to keep around at my work. Since my last baby came two years ago my back has been worse and no position I could get in would relieve it, and doctor after doctor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have found great relief since using it. My back is much better and I can sleep well. I keep house and have the care of five children so my work is very trying and I am very thankful I have found the Compound such a help. I recommend it to my friends and if you wish to use this letter I am very glad to help any woman suffering as I was until I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. MAUDE E. TAYLOR, 6 St. James Place, Roxbury, Mass.

Backache is one of the most common symptoms of a displacement or derangement of the female system. No woman should make the mistake of trying to overcome it by heroic endurance, but profit by Mrs. Taylor's experience and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

NEWS CULLINGS From Kentucky

Frankfort.—Gov. Morrow appointed Joseph A. Cassidy, of Bellevue, and W. K. Shugart, of Liberty, aides-de-camp on his staff with the rank of colonel.

Owensboro.—The new consolidated school east of Owensboro may not be built this year on account of the high price of building materials. It was expected that the building would cost $300,000. The board of education announced that the lowest bid received was $12,000. They voted to take no action at present.

Hazard.—Elmhurst Grigsby, age 29, son of Luke Grigsby, former postmaster at Hazard, was seriously injured when he was buried under five feet of sand in a crevice on the river bank. It was learned. The boy was dug out after twenty minutes by passing neighbors who saw the bank cave. He is in a local hospital. Physicians say he may recover.

Paducah.—Two-day sessions of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Princeton Presbytery will be held in Princeton at the Kentucky Young Presbyterian Church, according to arrangements which are being made. Thirty or more delegates, representing sixteen churches in the presbytery, are expected for the conference. A program of interest has been arranged.

Owensboro.—Fire destroyed a residence in Buena Vista, owned by W. S. Hazel and occupied by C. W. Kimberlin. The loss is estimated at between $7,000 and $8,000. There was no insurance on the house, but Mr. Kimberlin had his furniture insured. A chest of drawers and the attic was burned together with one or two valuable rugs. The fire started from a defective flue.

Paducah.—Three buildings were wrecked by a fire which threatened an entire block on South Third street, and half a block on Kentucky avenue. The loss is estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000. Heavy losses were suffered by the Paducah Iron Company, the Paducah Leather Company and the Grand Leader, a clothing and dry goods store, operated by Ben Lookoffsky.

Owensboro.—A jury in the Davies Circuit Court, four of the members being women, returned a judgment for $3,195 in favor of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Railroad Company in the action against the Owensboro City Railroad Company, the controversy being over the maintenance of railroad and street car crossings. The jury had little trouble in arriving at a verdict, Judge Slack giving peremptory instructions to find for the plaintiff.

Lexington.—Various methods of improving the status of teachers next year were recommended by a special committee of teachers at the regular meeting of the Guild of Louisville Teachers, held at the Louisville Free Public Library. The recommendations covered five distinct lines as follows: Improved economic conditions for the teachers; the part of teacher in school administration; teachers' pensions; tenure of office, and the sabbatical year.

Paducah.—An indictment charging with murder returned against Van Daniels by the McCracken County grand jury. Daniels is accused of poisoning his father, Joe Daniels, an elderly farmer, who owned extensive property in the county. The body of Joe Daniels was found floating in the Ohio river, a revolver, loaded with water on the lungs, and were marks of violence found. Discovery of bottles on the pike where Van Daniels claimed his car broke down on the night he took his father into the country, led to an investigation of a theory of possible death by poisoning. Analysis of the stomachic chemicals showed wood alcohol reaction.

Frankfort.—Live stock and other similar tangible personal property located on farm lands outside a graded school district, and used in connection therewith, had a taxing situs outside the graded school district and should be listed for taxation in the common school district where it is actually located. This opinion was given by I. B. Ross, of Carlisle, by Attorney General Dawson in answer to the question from Ross as to whether people residing in a graded school district, but who own farm land outside the graded school district, should have their live stock and other personal property located on the farms listed for taxation in the graded school district or in the common school district.

Lagrange.—Two women and a six-year-old girl were injured and two men badly shaken up when an automobile in which they were riding turned over on the West port pike, two and one-half miles north of here, after having struck another machine and overturned the road into a field. Those injured are: Mrs. Frank Conn, Mrs. Lee Brackman, who suffered a fractured knee, and Ruth Nettleton, daughter of Ernest Nettleton, who was badly cut about the arms. Mr. Nettleton, who was also riding in the machine, escaped injury as also did the driver.

Louisville.—One man was killed and two others narrowly escaped death when they were drawn into a slide of coal in a huge bin that feeds the boilers at the Riverside Pumping Station of the Louisville Water Company. Twenty-five workmen, who quickly formed a rescue squad, labored frantically for half an hour before they were able to extricate Eugene M. Honaker, 28, 275 Belmont avenue, from beneath tons of coal that covered him. He was dead from suffocation when found.

Doctor Johnson's Humanity.
Two copies of a rare pamphlet with an introduction by Doctor Johnson, which shows that the great man was always awake to the calls of humanity, as Boswell put it, have come into the market, observes the Christian Science Monitor. The pamphlets bear the title "The Prisoners of War," and were printed in 1700. Charles Wesley had visited the camp of prisoners of war at Knowle, near Bristol, and been horrified at their ragged and miserable condition, and as a result a

Winchester.—Charles Alford, 25 years old, awakened his five-year-old brother, sleeping by his side, and asked him to go into the bathroom and get him a drink of water. When the lad returned to the room, he found his brother unconscious. He was dying as the result of having swallowed poison.

Paducah.—Paducah property valued at $284,000 was at risk from fires during March, according to the monthly report of Fire Chief Jack Slaughter, filed with the commissioner of safety. The report is one of the best of the year, showing a loss of only $2,399.52 during the month. Forty alarms were answered by the department during the month.

Paducah.—Philip Thompson, ex-county clerk of McCracken county, accused of embezzling public funds as a jury trustee and as county clerk, will not go to trial as charged. This case was continued until September when called upon filing of an affidavit declaring him to be ill at Marianna, Ark., and unable to travel. Thompson resigned following an examination of his books by the state inspector and examiner.

Paducah.—Plans have been approved by the Masonic lodge of Paducah for extensive improvements in their lodge home at Fifth and Kentucky avenue. Specifications covering the construction of the building have been adopted and an early beginning of work is anticipated. The building will be erected according to a plan of units. The construction cost of the first unit will be $3,000. The exterior of the building will be finished in terra cotta.

Frankfort.—An examination of the county offices of Perry county made by State Inspector and Examiner Henry E. James showed that B. P. Combs, county clerk, was indebted to the state in the sum of $3,763.52, which amount was collected by James and turned into the state treasury. The collection was on mortgage recording tax, motor license fund, tax on deeds, collections on delinquent land sales, and Game and Fish Commission licenses.

Frankfort.—Saloonkeepers forced out of business by wartime prohibition are entitled to recover "at least a portion of their license according to a decision handed down by Circuit Judge R. L. Stout in the case of Hugh Odum, a former saloonkeeper of Louisville, against State Auditor J. J. Craig. Odum sued for himself and other saloonkeepers to recover the same portion of their license. The case will be appealed to the Court of Appeals.

Georgetown.—John B. Betts, known as "Daddy" Betts, committed suicide by drowning himself in Elkhorn Creek. The body, with a heavy stone tied to the chest with a clothesline, was found in three feet of water back of the brickyard in the north end of the city. No cause was given, although it was known he had been depressed lately. Mr. Betts, who was 65 years old, formerly was a leading merchant of Georgetown and one of its best-known men.

Paducah.—Death conquered in the two weeks' battle which Harold Wallace Sherrard, 24, construction workman, valiantly fought following injuries suffered when a train of coal cars crushed him against a brick wall at the plant of the Paducah Electric Company. Sherrard came to Paducah several weeks ago with a construction force from the North. He suffered a fractured skull. His widow and two small children survive. The body will be sent to Elkhorn, Ohio, for burial.

Ashland.—A hard road to Greenup from Ashland practically is assured, according to an announcement made by the Chamber of Commerce. The direct results of the culmination of this plan will be felt here in the immediate future for the long-looked-for binding of Greenup and Boyd counties is near at hand. The industrial future of this territory will be given a decided boost. Of the probable cost of $200,000, the State Road Commission will supply $100,000. The remaining $100,000 will be raised by popular subscription in Greenup County and Ashland. A total of $30,000 already has been pledged, with the campaign in Greenup county just starting.

Frankfort.—As Kentucky would derive but small benefit under the Townsend bill, now pending in Congress, the State Highway Commission had decided to send Chairman Green Garrett to Washington to assist in working out a federal aid bill. The Townsend bill would apply federal money to a strictly federal highway scheme to be maintained by the government, and it has the backing of the East, the West and South being opposed to the enactment of the measure. At the meeting of the commission here, State Examiner J. B. Rogers said that it was doubtful if the United States highway engineer will approve letting any more contracts outside the projects already under way until Congress appropriates more money.

Frankfort.—The condition of wheat and rye in all the principal farming sections of Kentucky is unusually good; there are five per cent fewer brood sows in the state than there were this time last year, and although the labor supply is only eight per cent below normal, the demand for farm labor is 13 per cent below normal, according to the April crop and livestock report for Kentucky, issued lately by the United States Bureau of Crop Estimates in co-operation with State Commissioner of Agriculture W. C. Hanna.

Frankfort.—Superintendent of Public Instruction George Colvin has been notified that the George Peabody College for Teachers offers two nontransferable scholarships, value $25, for the summer quarter of 1921. The scholarships in this state will be awarded by Superintendent Colvin without recommendation or suggestion on the part of the college authorities. The scholarships will not be available until notice of their award with the names of the parties reach the college before June 1.

committee for their relief was formed. One of the pamphlets with Doctor Johnson's noble and humane introduction is a presentation copy to Laurence Sterne, and the other to Sir Thomas Robinson, who was at one time leader of the house of commons.

Washington.—A formal complaint against the United States Steel Corporation and 11 subsidiary companies, alleging unfair competition in interstate commerce, was issued by the Federal Trade Commission. Thus the commission finally has decided that the long-standing complaints by various users of steel products and others against the alleged use by the corporation of the device known as the "Pittsburgh plus price."

It was announced, however, that the commission had divided three to two, Chairman Thompson and Commissioners Pollard and Nugent voting for issuance of the complaint, and Commissioners Gaskill and Murock dissenting.

The corporation and its subsidiaries are given 30 days, or until May 31, to make formal answer to the complaint, after which the case will proceed to trial on its merits. The Clayton anti-trust act and the law establishing the commission, and the commission's announcement said the case was "an outgrowth of conditions complained of by more than 2,700 manufacturers of steel in the Chicago, Duluth and Birmingham districts, by legislators, and by Chambers of Commerce and many business organizations throughout the United States."

The "Pittsburgh plus price" is described at length in the commission's announcement, which says that under it "all steel, except rails, sheet piling and other special shapes, wherever made and whether made at the United States Steel Corporation plants, or by independent, is sold at the f. o. b. Pittsburgh price, plus an amount equivalent to the freight to point of destination," and as an illustration says that this "device" is "in effect, a manufacturer who runs his own track to the Gary (Ind.) steel mill and purchases steel manufactured at that plant must pay the price charged in Pittsburgh, plus an amount equaling the freight rate from Pittsburgh to Gary."

The complaint, it is stated, charges that the device is "in effect, a manufacturer who runs his own track to the Gary (Ind.) steel mill and purchases steel manufactured at that plant must pay the price charged in Pittsburgh, plus an amount equaling the freight rate from Pittsburgh to Gary."

Wild Fowl in Danger.
Conservation of water and marsh areas is necessary to the perpetuation of the migratory wild fowl, the Department of Agriculture said in a statement.

Dr. E. W. Nelson, chief of the survey, declared the rapidly increasing drainage of lakes and marshes throughout the country indicates that wild fowl are being exterminated and will be practically eliminated from most of the states unless a considerable number of the best of them are conserved.

NEW YORKERS TOO CHILLY

Wyoming Man Astonished to Find He Couldn't Make Friends With Men
He Met in Hotel.

"They're a queer lot," said the man from Wyoming. "I've been living here in the same house with them for a month, and darned if I know any of them yet. Guess I never will," and he went on to explain how it was. "I'm a mine out in Wyoming for some New York people. Been coming here once or twice a year for a long time, but as I only stayed a few days, always put up at a hotel."

"This time I had to stay a couple of months, so someone told me about a bachelor house and as it sounded pretty good I took it on. Have to give a lot of references and all that kind of thing—you'd a thought that I was trying to borrow a million dollars."

"After a while I got a room there and about a dozen fellows came in. One hundred men live at this place. Little rooms like cells in a monastery, all right to sleep in and dress in if you haven't got many clothes. Nice house, though, with a lounge, gymnasium, sun parlor and a restaurant. The restaurant is a place where I thought that I could make some friends. I earned a friend."

"When they come in they look for a vacant table. Seem to like to eat alone. There are about thirty tables in this place, and pretty soon there are thirty men, each by himself at a table. Nearly everyone has a paper which he reads or pretends to read. If one comes in late and all the tables have somebody sitting at them, then he has got to sit down with another guy, and he acts like he is sorry he has to do it. He sits down, looks at the ceiling, or at the wall just beyond the other man's shoulder, looks everywhere but at the other man. If his feet happen to touch the other's under the table he begs pardon. They are mighty polite. Once I thought one was going to beg my pardon because he accidentally laid his arm on me."

"We don't do that way out in Wyoming. If I go into a large restaurant and there is only one man at a table I go over and sit down with him so we can talk and get acquainted. We are sociable folks out there and everybody seems to know everybody else. Way we figure it, life is pretty short and a man needs all the friends he can get."—New York Sun.

He Returned the Compliment.
Little Jack went over to see the friend of his mother's one afternoon while mother was at the club. The friend tried to be entertaining. She fed him, she read to him and then she began to talk to him very much in the way she would to an older person. "Oh, I have a trade last for you," she said. "My husband says you're such a fine little fellow; so much nicer than you used to be."

Jack smiled sweetly over the compliment. Then he decided to give one himself. "My mamma says you look older every day," he informed her a minute later.

LESSON FOR MAY 8

REST AND WORSHIP (RECREATION).

LESSON TEXT—Lev. 23:34-35; Deut. 16:1-17; Mark 2:23, 24.
GOLDEN TEXT—The streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls, playing in the streets thereof.—Zech. 8:3.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Ex. 33:14; Lev. 23:3; Neh. 8:18; Heb. 4:9.
PRIMARILY TOPIC—The Happiest Day of the Week.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Holy and Happy Days.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Sabbath Recreation.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Use and Guidance of Recreation.

The title "Rest and Recreation," as chosen by the committee, is hardly true to the content of the Scripture passages. It should be "Rest and Worship."

1.—The Feast of Tabernacles (Lev. 23:34-35).
This was the final feast of the series which in type covered the great facts of redemption.

1. Time of (v. 39). It was on the fifth day of the seventh month and lasted seven days. This time would about correspond to the close of our September and the beginning of October. It was after the harvest had been gathered.

2. Method of keeping (vv. 40, 42). They were to take the boughs of goodly trees, branches of palm trees, and the boughs of thick trees, and willows of the brook, and construct booths. These booths were placed on the flat tops of houses, on the streets and open places of the city, and even in the fields. In these the people dwelt for the whole week.

3. The significance of it (v. 43). (1) A memorial of Israel's dwelling in booths in the wilderness (v. 42, 43). It reminded them of God's care of them during their journey through the wilderness. (2) A "harvest-home" thanksgiving (v. 43). "When ye have gathered the fruits of the land." (3) It foreshadowed the final gathering of God's redeemed ones from all nations (Zech. 14:16, 17).

11.—The Sabbath Day (Deut. 5:12-15).
1. Meaning of (Gen. 2:2-3; cf. Ex. 20:8-11). According to the etymology of the word, "Sabbath" means to desist from exertion—repose. God rested when the work of creation was done. On the basis of this, God has established the law of labor and rest. It is not only a memorial of creation, but it is a memorial of redemption. The Jews were to keep the Sabbath in memory of the deliverance from Egyptian bondage.

2. Obligation of (v. 12-15). (1) Kept as a sacred institution (v. 12). God sanctified it (Gen. 2:3). "Sanctify" means to consecrate, dedicate, therefore holy. It means set apart to God's service; therefore keeping the Sabbath meant more than cessation from labor—it meant to cease from labor in order to occupy one's self with God. Its supreme significance and obligation was to remember God. (2) No work to be done on the Sabbath (v. 13, 14). All work was to be done in six days. In fact, the obligation to work six days is here made just as binding as to keep the Sabbath day. (3) By whom should the Sabbath be kept (v. 14)? (a) The head of the family. (b) The children. (c) The servants. (d) The oxen and donkeys. (e) The stranger. The foreigner who comes to our shores should be obliged to keep the Sabbath. It should be kept in mind that Christians are not under obligation to keep the Sabbath as law (Col. 2:16, 17), and especially as it applies to any particular seventh day. The first day of the week is the proper day for a Christian to observe. This he does not as a law, but as a glorious and exalted privilege. He is on recreation ground, therefore above the law. While the keeping of the Sabbath is a matter of privilege, we unto the one who abuses this privilege. The principle of resting one day out of seven is inexorable in its demands. (4) The ground of obligation was redemption from bondage (v. 15).

111. Jesus Invited His Disciples to Rest (Mark 6:31-32).
He took them apart to a desert place. This was not primarily for recreation, but that they might be free from the crowd to have fellowship with Him, that they might be prepared for the strenuous days which were to follow.

From Whom Cometh Our Help.
It is the privilege of those who are the children of God to dwell among the hills, among the hills where the showers gather big with blessing, where life is lifted above the swamps and miasma of the low-lying lands of earth and uncertainty, and where the soul of man can commune with its God, from whom cometh our help.

He Wondered.

"Yes, my son."
"Who was Demosthenes?"
"Oh, he was a great talker, my boy."
"He was? Wasn't there any Mrs. Demosthenes?"

"I did, but I can go back any time I want."
"Zat so?"
"Sure—under an assumed name."—Notre Dame Juggler.
